Misery Elsewhere in the Nation

By United Press International

While several severe tornadoes ripped through the mid-South Sunday, claiming scores of lives, a devastating snowstorm "completely paralyzed" parts of Texas and swollen rivers in Nebraska and Illinois forced evacuation of hundreds of persons from their homes.

The blizzard, part of a storm stretching from Oklahoma to Indiana, claimed the lives of five persons in the Midwest and Southwest. Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas were the hardest hit. The Kansas Highway Patrol said two lanes of cars more than four miles long were immobile along the Kansas Turnpike between Wichita and Wellington. Power lines throughout western Oklahoma were downed by high winds.

In northeastern Illinois, nine persons, including four children, were evacuated by helicopter from their flooded homes near Prophetstown. About 300 persons had been evacuated Saturday, but authorities said further flooding on the Rock and Pecatonica Rivers was still a threat. One death was reported as a result of the flooding.

Power lines were down, telephone service was disrupted and roads were clogged with debris across wide areas of the delta country.

A tornado watch remained in effect early today for Southern Alabama, Northwest Florida and Southwest Georgia.

"Extreme blizzard conditions," including heavy snowfall and winds up to 50 miles an hour cut through Northern Texas and much of the Great Plains.

"We're completely paralyzed, to put it in two words," Amarillo, Tex., Civil Defense Director Bill Butler said Sunday night.

National Guardsmen used 2½-ton trucks to rescue 300 persons trapped in cars between Amarillo and Childress. A spokesman for the Southern Pacific Railroad said trains were stopping in Oklahoma and Kansas to pick up stranded motorists. He said it was the first time in 30 years he had heard of such action.

17-Inch Snowfall
Seventeen inches of snow fell at Gage, Okla.

Most of the 500 residents of Kings Lake, Neb., were evacuated Sunday as the Elkhorn River overflowed. Another 300 persons were out of their homes at Pender, Neb., and 20 families were forced out by the flooding Platte River near Big Island. Several persons were rescued by helicopter but as many as 1,000 head of cattle were lost to the floodwaters in Nebraska.

Near Prophetstown, Ill., a helicopter pilot said his aerial view showed "an area covering some 20 square miles of nearly solid water" as the Rock River overflowed. Some $100,000 homes in Rockford's river-front area were flooded. A 13-year-old boy drowned in floodwaters in the Kishwaukee River at New Milford, Ill.

CAREY, Miss. — Grim rescue workers dug through the rubble of sharecropper shacks across the flat Mississippi Delta cotton country today for more dead in the Deep South's worst series of tornadoes in nearly three decades.

The confirmed toll was 60 dead—54 in Mississippi and 6 in Louisiana. A Mississippi Civil Defense official estimated 500 persons were injured, and several persons were missing.

The death toll was the worst inflicted by tornadoes in the Deep South since a series of twisters took 75 lives in central and northeast Mississippi March 16, 1942.

The twisters dipped from a line of thunder storms that moved across the South late Sunday afternoon and kept portions of Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee and Florida on tornado alert through the early morning.

The main group of tornadoes was reported along a 250-mile line from Delhi, La., across Mississippi's Delta country, to Selmer, Tenn., just north of the Mississippi line.

A tornado was reported early today near Crestview, Fla., and high winds destroyed a barn near Jopka, Ala. Hail the size of golf balls were reported near Birmingham, Ala.

In Mississippi's delta, a fertile plain along the Mississippi River populated largely by black people, the devastation was stunning.

"There's nothing left. It's all gone. Everything on that plantation is gone," said Lois Stamps, 17, of Cary, tears streaking her grimy cheeks. Her little brother, John, 5, a bandage around his head, cried: "Where's mama and daddy?"

The girl didn't know. Her parents, Isaac and Rosilee Stamps, were injured when a tornado ripped into their wooden house, scattering the family of 12. "We haven't seen them since. I don't know where they are," said Lois, at an emergency shelter for refugees.

Six persons were killed in a small hut near Delhi, La., where Cleveland Lenore Sr., 47, lived with 12 members of his family. Lenore and two sons were visiting friends at the time. Danny Lenore, 16, was the only known survivor, and he suffered a back injury. Three other persons were missing.

The Mississippi Civil Defense office in Jackson listed victims in at least eight communities in the delta. The confirmed dead were 11 in Inverness, 8 in Cary, 7 in Delta City, 7 at Little Yazoo, 5 in Leflore County, 5 in Humphreys County, 2 at Rome and 2 near Bovina.

In addition to the Civil Defense report, local authorities in Sunflower County reported five persons dead at the town of Cameta and two dead at Moorhead.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., asked President Nixon to declare the stricken delta a federal disaster area, and Gov. John Bell Williams said he would make an inspection tour of the area today.

At Moorehead, near Inverness, a city official said homes were "squashed like a tractor had run over them."

Four houses were destroyed and 12 persons injured at Transylvania, La., and 40 persons were hurt when a tornado damaged a trailer park near Oxford, site of the University of Mississippi

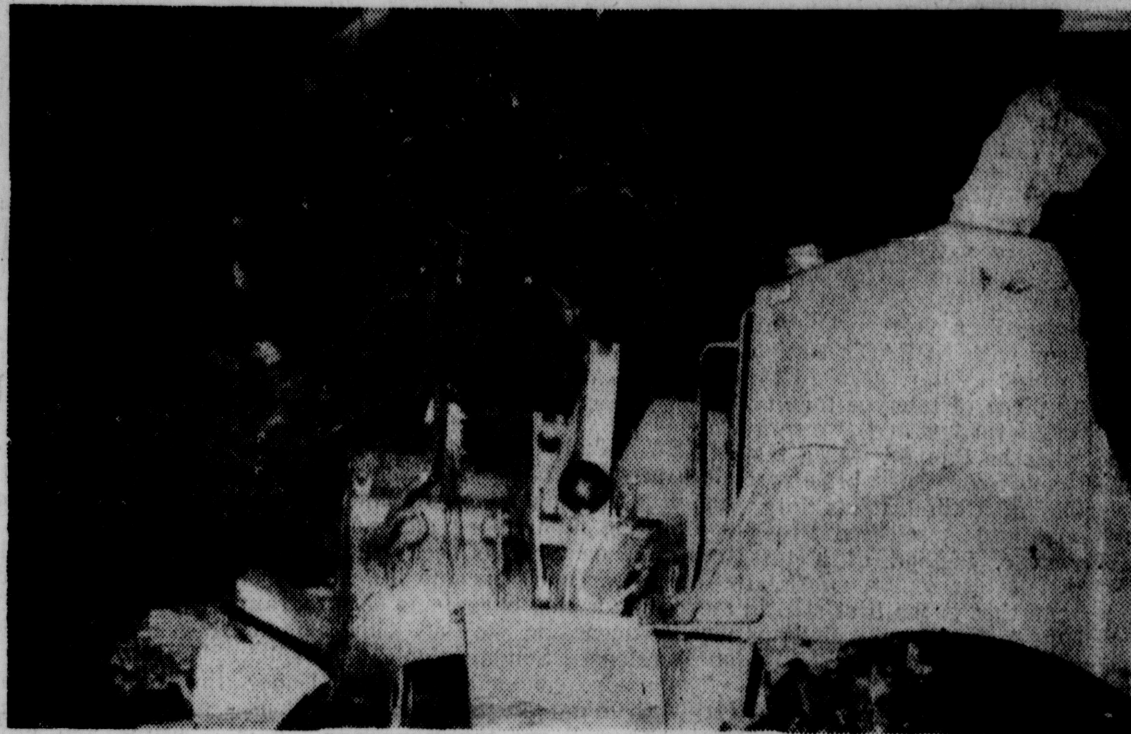

In Louisiana, near Delhi, six persons died when a tornado lifted a frame house from its foundation and splintered it over a wide area. Some of the bodies were found 200 yards from the foundation of the house.

Telephone communications were knocked out in some of the hardest hit areas in Mississippi. National Guard units were mobilized in several communities and shelters were being set up for the homeless. About 50 emergency Red Cross workers were sent to the storm area.

A spokesman for the University of Mississippi at Oxford said 40 students were hospitalized after a tornado struck a trailer park on the edge of the campus. He said 50 trailers were destroyed and 50 others damaged.

Damage at Inverness, Miss., a community of about 1,100 persons about 90 miles northwest of Jackson, was widespread.

Ray Armstrong, a Civil Defense worker who was helping to look for victims in the debris, said: "We don't know how many are dead, how many are injured or how many may still be under this stuff."

South Viet Advance Stalled By Heavy Attacks in North

SAIGON (AP) — More heavy South Vietnamese attacks stalled the South Vietnamese drive into Laos today for the fifth successive day. Lead elements of Saigon's 16,000-man force were still only 17½ miles from the border they crossed two weeks ago.

Military sources said the campaign also had not achieved its objective, to cut the flow of enemy supplies down the Ho Chi Minh trail. Instead, these sources said, the North Vietnamese had doubled the truck traffic, from 1,000 to about 2,000 "movers" per day, and diverted them to the west to routes beyond the South Vietnamese advance.

"The enemy conducted at least 10 indirect fire attacks with rockets and mortar rounds against South Vietnamese fire bases and field positions in the southern panhandle of Laos Sunday, causing light over-all casualties," a South Vietnamese communique said.

A spokesman said they were the heaviest enemy attacks since Saigon's troops moved into Laos Feb. 8. He would not disclose specific casualties, but "light over-all casualties" indicated some units may have suffered moderate or heavy losses.

The enemy attacks drove remnants of one South Vietnamese ranger battalion from a hilltop patrol base six miles inside Laos after 298 of the battalion's 450 men had been killed or wounded in a three-day siege. The survivors carried 108 wounded with them but left behind 130 dead comrades and 60 other wounded to fend for themselves.

Another ranger base a mile away, also under siege since Thursday, was still holding out today under rocket and mortar fire. But a U.S. helicopter got in to lift out an American helicopter crew chief, Dennis Fuji of Hawaii, who was stranded at the other base last Thursday and manned a radio to direct U.S. air strikes against the enemy positions. Fuji was reported wounded slightly.

A South Vietnamese spokesman at Quang Tri, a rear base for the Laotian operation, claimed Saigon forces in Laos killed 63 North Vietnamese in a series of clashes north and south of Highway 9 Sunday and today. He said 11 South Vietnamese were killed in these clashes.

The U.S. Command announced the loss of two more helicopters to enemy anti-aircraft fire in Laos, and said four of the American crewmen were missing and two were wounded, strikes, in the Laotian operation South Vietnamese headquarters since Feb. 8. This was 1,173 announced its third helicopter more than the total reported loss but said there were no casualties.

Despite the lack of progress on the ground, the defeat suffered by the ranger battalion and the reports of no serious dent in traffic on the Ho Chi Minh trail, officials of the Nixon Administration in Washington insisted the operation is proceeding according to expectations. They said the North Vietnamese resistance was anticipated, but that South Vietnamese forces are proceeding well, and the operation is disrupting the flow of enemy supplies southward.

A South Vietnamese communique claimed that 1,960 North Vietnamese troops had been killed, including about 500 by air crashes. The U.S. Command also announced the loss of two light observation planes, one in the northern quarter of South Vietnam near the Laotian border on Friday and the second in the Central Highlands. Two crewmen were killed in the two

Seven Policemen Gunned Down

By United Press International

Seven law enforcement officers were killed in apparently unrelated incidents during the weekend, bringing to at least 11 the number of policemen killed during the past week.

Two Philadelphia policemen were found shot to death in their patrol cars, a black patrolman was shot near a Miami housing project, an Indiana state trooper and a town marshal died in a gunfight near Saint John, Ind., and a veteran Greenville, S.C., policeman was killed in a gun battle with a man who later took his own life.

Philadelphia Police Commissioner Joseph P. O'Neill said Patrolman John McEntee, 25, apparently was "executed" Saturday when he stopped two youths for questioning. About five hours later, the body of 16-year-old police veteran Joseph Kelly, 45, was found slumped over the steering wheel of his patrol car. He had been shot twice in the chest.

Police charged two teen-agers in connection with McEntee's death.

At Saint John, Ind., State Patrolman John J. Streau, 25, and Marshal James Larimar, 35, were shot to death while attempting to question two men in a stolen car. State Trooper Pete Popplewell Jr., 29, was wounded by one of the suspects, who then threw down his empty gun and begged for mercy as Popplewell held him in his sights.

One suspect was hospitalized and the other held pending further investigation.

New York City Patrolman Horace Lord, 25, was killed Friday night in a shootout during a narcotics investigation on Manhattan's Upper West Side. The suspect also was killed in the exchange of gunfire and a second policeman was wounded.

Greenville, S.C., Policeman W. F. Chastain, 46, died Sunday in a gunfight with a man who allegedly had shot his former girlfriend and her mother. The suspect, Richard Brooks, 26, took his own life after a chase by police.

Patrolman Victor Butler Jr., 45, a 20-year veteran of the Miami police force, was shot to death as he walked from a housing project Saturday night. A statewide alert was issued for three persons in an old automobile seen driving from the scene at high speed.

Dallas authorities were holding two men charged with killing three Dallas County deputies Wednesday. The men, Rene Adolfo Guzman, 33, and Leonard Ramos Lopez, 25, were arrested Friday after a chase by police wearing bullet-proof vests.

A four-day search came to an end Sunday in Oklahoma with the surrender of two suspects in the shooting Wednesday of a state park official and Oklahoma State Trooper Bill Walker and the wounding of game Ranger W. L. Pickens.

Businessmen Say No

KINGSTON

Mayor Francis R. Koenig's proposal to ban parking in the Stockade area up town for a 90-day trial period after the new parking garage is turned over to the city has met with strong opposition from businessmen in the area.

Koenig first offered the proposal (designed to relieve traffic congestion) at a breakfast meeting of the Uptown Businessmen's Association on Feb. 10. The streets involved would be Wall Street, John Street, Crown

Primary Shift First Legislature Battle Shaping Up

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The first major political battle of the 1971 session was taking shape in the legislature today, as Republicans moved to shift this year's primary elections from June to September.

A bill that would make such a change was ready for action in the Assembly, and a spokesman for Speaker Perry B. Duryea said it would be brought to a vote this week—possibly at today's meeting.

Both the Senate and Assembly scheduled afternoon meetings to begin the new work week. Leaders of both houses promised to step up the pace of activity after last week's abbreviated efforts.

The primary bill was drawn by the GOP leadership partially in response to criticism that last year's election campaigns, beginning with the June primary, were too prolonged and exhaustive. The stated reason for the change is that more time is needed to enact local reapportionment plans based on the 1970 census figures.

But Democrats long have championed the spring primary and have vowed all-out resistance against any attempt to switch it to the fall.

They are backed by the League of Women Voters, which contends that a fall primary only serves to foreshorten the general election period and thus gives an unfair advantage to incumbents.

Assuming party lines hold, the Republican majorities have more than enough votes to enforce their will in both houses. But a long and lively struggle is expected.

On another front, Gov. Rockefeller scheduled a noontime news conference to dramatize "Revenue Sharing Day," which he had proclaimed to marshal support for greatly increased financial aid from the federal government.

The governor's office said that numerous local government officials across the state had told Rockefeller they would hold observances of their own, including the mayors of the state's largest cities.

The legislature is expected to conduct working sessions through Wednesday this week. Last week the Senate met only one day—briefly—and the Assembly on two days—also briefly.

Verbal Beating for Rocky Budget

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Two Republican legislators, presented anti-budget petitions bearing more than 10,000 signatures, obtained by two housewives.

Gov. Rockefeller's proposed $8.5-billion state budget, and some of the programs contained in it took a verbal beating at taxpayer gatherings in Buffalo and Olean over the weekend.

Some 200 persons jammed into the Olean City Council chambers Saturday to hear witnesses air views on the proposed budget, which is $1.1 billion higher than the current spending plan and carries increases in many taxes and fees.

The hearing was orderly except for one incident in which a welfare mother and opponents of the welfare system debated loudly. One of the opponents drew applause when he suggested that welfare recipients "be limited in family size and be barred from voting."

House Speaker Carl W. Albert and other Democratic lawmakers have proposed legislation that would appropriate federal money to permit cities, towns and public agencies to hire the unemployed for public service jobs. A similar plan was vetoed by Nixon last year.

Unemployment now has reached 6 per cent, a nine-year high, and backers of the legislation have said it would be more difficult for the President to reject the legislation this year.

Weinberger said he felt such a program "would encourage a lot of totally unnecessary and useless projects that would be very hard to stop after the economy did recover."

Nixon has the power to set a top limit on wages and prices to hold down construction costs under a law passed last year by Congress. The administration said at the time it did not want the law and that Nixon would not use it if it were passed.

A wage-price freeze for the building industry now is under consideration, however, and administration sources said such controls, if imposed, would be administered by a stabilization board with power to set maximum prices and wages.

Washington Window interview would be very difficult to stop, once the economy picks up.

"I don't believe that there is at this point any feeling that there is any necessity whatever for the government to offer to employ everybody who is unemployed," Weinberger said.

President Ponders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, pondering the possibility of imposing a wages and prices freeze to stall rising costs in the construction industry, called in Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson for consultation today.

Administration spokesmen said Hodgson would brief Nixon on his conferences with AFL-CIO construction union leaders at Miami Beach last week. Hodgson talked with representatives of 17 unions about the administration's apparently futile efforts to persuade labor and industry to impose voluntary controls.

In a related development, Nixon's chief budget writer said Sunday the administration firmly opposes giving public service jobs to the unemployed.

Caspar W. Weinberger, deputy director of management and budget, said in a UPI Washington Window interview such make-work programs would be very difficult to stop, once the economy picks up.

"I don't believe that there is at this point any feeling that there is any necessity whatever for the government to offer to employ everybody who is unemployed," Weinberger said.

As in Olean, the Albany South Mall office building project and increases on the state employment rolls came in for special fire at an outdoor rally in Buffalo Sunday.

Leaders of the protest, attended by 100 persons in front of a monument to the late President William McKinley, suggested a massive tax revolt.

Let's organize," one leader said. "If we can get 40,000 people in New York State to go along with us, then if we have to stop paying taxes, that's what we'll do."

"We've got to keep those meetings up until we have a tax strike, then they'll listen to us."

Five Buffalo-area legislators, all Democrats, told the crowd they opposed the Republican governor's budget and would fight to cut it.

That Saturday 'Alert' — It Was Six-Inch Goof

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—U. S. Eberhardt, a balding civilian employee at the North American Defense Command (NORAD), made a six inch mistake. It touched off a mild national panic with repercussions still being heard.

President Nixon wants to know what happened and the Soviets are saying it shows a state of "military psychosis" in America.

Eberhardt, a veteran teletype operator with NORAD's National Warning Center, grabbed the wrong piece of teletype tape off a hook Saturday and transmitted what he thought was a test message over the broadcast circuits of United Press International and Associated Press.

However, instead of a test, Eberhardt sent an official message that is the first step in warning American civilians their country is under a national emergency.

Under federal law the teletype message—which contained the code word "hatefulness" to prove it was authentic—should have caused all television stations and most radio stations to go off the air after announcing a state of emergency.

Some stations did. Most did not, because nobody was checking the new machines or because they did not believe the message.

It took NORAD 44 minutes to rescind the message.

The test tape and the authentic tape, which Eberhardt used, were only six inches apart and hanging above the teletype machine. That situation already has been corrected.

"Now instead of the two tapes hanging on the wall, the tapes have been put in sealed envelopes," said James T. Gadsner, a duty officer at the National Warning Center. The envelope with the "real" tape is in a desk drawer five feet from the transmitter. The test tape is close to the machine.

Changes Recommended for Drug Addicts

NEW YORK (UPI) — The state program aimed at removing drug addicts from jail and committing them to special treatment centers has been "ineffective ... (and) become little more than a plea bargaining device," according to a joint study released Sunday night.

The study, conducted by the City's Criminal Justice Coordinating Council and the Mayor's Narcotics Control Council, recommended changes in the State Narcotics Control Commission, including a new system of commitment for arrested addicts.

According to the study, only 29 per cent of criminal defendants judged to be addicts have gone into the commitment program. The rest, the study said, "have gone into the city's jails."

Under the present commitment program, a defendant convicted of a crime and proved to be an addict has a commitment hearing where he is represented by an attorney and entitled to a jury.

If the judge or jury finds him to be an addict, he is committed in lieu of a criminal sentence.

But, the study said criminal commitment is an extremely cumbersome procedure. Addicts and their attorneys almost invariably resist commitment because the period is usually much longer than the sentence they are likely to get for the crime.

Among the 12 recommendations made by the study was giving addicts a commitment hearing before they go before criminal courts.

"By holding the commitment hearing before the criminal trial, misdemeanor defendants who are addicts would be diverted from the criminal process at the earliest time, saving court time, speeding the commitment process, and significantly increasing the number of commitments," the study said.

STOP BURNING HEATING DOLLARS

HERE ARE SOME TIPS TO CONSERVE HEAT AND TO KEEP YOUR FUEL BILL AT A MINIMUM—NO MATTER WHAT KIND OF HEATING SYSTEM YOU HAVE.

1. Turn down thermostat at night 5° to 10°.
2. Find out what thermostat setting suits you best for day and night. The cooler the better — for health and cost. Every degree over 70° increases your heating costs about 3% and dries out the air in your home more than necessary.
3. If you have a warm air system — change air filters regularly. A clogged filter will have your furnace doing more work — with less heat.
4. Be sure radiators or vents are clear of obstructions.
5. Have your furnace cleaned and checked every year.
6. If you have a fireplace, be sure the damper is closed and fits tightly. A chimney is designed to remove heat, and that's exactly what it will do if the damper is open!
7. Sunshine is free. Open blinds and draperies and let the sun shine in. On dark or windy days closed curtains will help conserve heat.
8. Letting junior (or the cat) in and out a dozen times a day can dissipate a lot of heat. Try and curtail in-and-out traffic, and keep doors open as briefly as possible.
9. Windows are great heat losers. If you don't have permanent storm doors and windows, plastic sheeting makes a good substitute.
10. Close off unused rooms.
11. Naturally, proper insulation and weatherstripping are vital in conserving fuel and keeping your house comfortable.

Barclay Heights Sewers — Glasco Wants In

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

GLASCO meeting the board authorized the feasibility study on the basis of a petition presented by the Barclay Heights Homeowners' Civic Association comprising 79 pages and 1,027 signatures, representing 67.8 per cent of the assessed valuation.

Councilman Rinaldi said the petitions would be in circulation today and are expected to be completed by Friday. Following tabulation, Rinaldi said he will ask for a special meeting of the Town Board to authorize the extension of the proposed study to include Glasco and an area generally along the lines of Glasco Water District.

Rinaldi said it appeared that those in attendance were 100 percent in favor of including the hamlet in the sewer study.

Alex Diachishian, town engineer was in attendance and answered questions regarding the sewer proposal.

The town councilman emphasized that the petition was unofficial and merely requests a feasibility study and does not obligate anyone to the sewer project. The actual vote as to whether or not the residents want a sewer district will come following a public hearing after

Local Woman Among Orange Drug Arrests

NEWBURGH counts following a high speed chase on Southern Dutchess County highways early Sunday.

Police Chief Humbert M. Cappelli of the City police department led a detail of 18 detectives and uniformed police in the raids Saturday.

The Kingston woman, charged with loitering for the purpose of using dangerous drugs, was identified as 21-year-old Linda Jenkins, whose address was listed as 3 Cedar Street in that city. She was held in $750 bail.

Also arrested during the raids was William Johnson, 19, of Poughkeepsie, who was charged with possessing dangerous drugs sixth degree and loitering. His bail was fixed at $3,000 bail by City Judge Charles J. Roskoski who presided at all arraignments.

Arnold Johnson, 23, of this city, was booked for criminal possession of dangerous drugs, fourth and fifth degree, and possession of hypodermic needles and gambling records. His bail was fixed at $22,500. Mrs. Edith Johnson, 24, who was arrested with the defendant, was held in $18,000 bail on similar charges.

Frank Jones, 44, and Carl Jury, 30, who were taken into custody at Washington Hotel, were held in $12,000 bail on each of two charges, possessing dangerous drugs fifth degree, and possession hypodermic needles.

Others arrested were from this area.

Arrested by Fishkill troopers L. R. McNeight and T. E. Kreinheider, was James W. Green of Marist College, Poughkeepsie.

Green was apprehended following a high speed chase by the troopers. Search of his car revealed a quantity of marijuana on the front seat.

At the state police station, the student reportedly punched several holes in a wall before he was subdued. Based on that incident, Green was charged with criminal mischief. He also was cited for criminal possession of dangerous drugs, sixth degree, driving while under the influence of drugs, reckless driving, speeding and passing a red light.

Village Police Justice Harold Reilly fixed bail at $1,100 and remanded Green to the county jail in Poughkeepsie pending hearing Wednesday.

Dr. Sable Given New State Post

ALBANY For the third time in four years, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has appointed Kingston native Dr. Jack M. Sable to a top state post.

Thursday the Governor named the former director of the Community Affairs Office and present director of the State Office of Economic Opportunity to head the State Division of Human Rights.

Rockefeller appointed Sable to succeed Robert J. Mangum who was named to serve as judge on the Court of Claims.

Sable will be paid an annual salary of $36,125 in his new post which requires Senate action. The State Division of Human Rights is charged with eliminating discrimination in New York.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sable, 337 Broadway, Kingston, he attended Yeshiva University where he received his BS, MS and Ph.D. degrees.

A chaplain during the Korean conflict, he was a group worker in geriatrics at Paterson, N.J. Young Hebrew Men's Association and was the founding spiritual leader of the Riverdale Jewish Center. He later became a member of the faculty of the Department of Urban Planning of Hunter College Graduate School.

Renaissance Show Tops $5,000 Mark

ACCORD Sunday's benefit dinner at the Granit Hotel for the Project Renaissance narcotics rehabilitation center in Ellenville was termed a huge success, according to organizers of the event.

Dick Hall, restaurant manager at the Granit II, who conceived and organized the entire event, said at the conclusion of last night's show that more than $5,000 had been raised for the self-help therapy center in Ellenville. More than 900 persons attended the dinner and show.

All funds raised at the benefit will be turned over to Project Renaissance and will be used for food, clothing and other essentials needed to keep the program operating at full capacity.

All expenses for the evening were shouldered by the management of the Accord resort hotel. The dozens of waiters, waitresses and busboys who assisted donated all their time and services to the event. In addition, all of the entertainers performed "gratis."

Among the 900 in attendance was a sizeable contingent of "residents" from the "live-in" facility in Ellenville. Between the dinner and show, about a dozen "residents" held several hour-long seminars dealing with their own problems, the difficulties at Renaissance and the drug scene in general.

Among the entertainers were Bruce Morrow from WABC in New York City; Neil Sedaka; Davey Carr; Allen and Shane; Carter and Lynn; Emmis and the Dimension Complex.

Dutchess Seeks to Halt Political Polling Firm

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — The Dutchess County executive is seeking a court order to stop a political polling firm from allegedly suggesting to respondents that his marked limp "evidences intoxication and drunkenness."

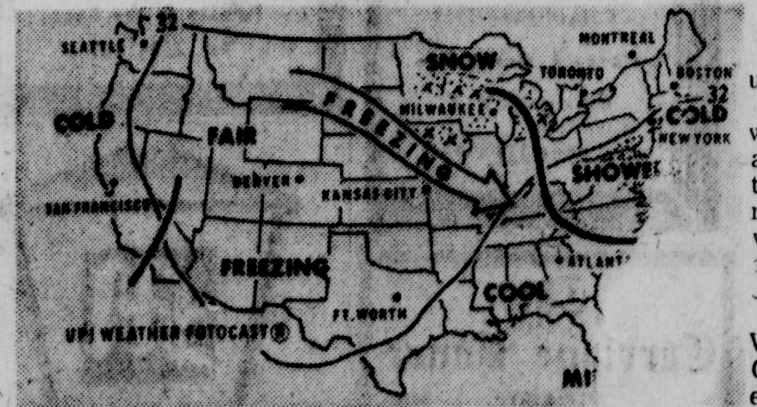

David E. Schoentag charged Saturday before a State Supreme Court justice that the poll by Oliver Quayle and Co. is a camouflaged "smear campaign."

Schoentag, a Republican, said he did not know for whom the poll is being conducted. But Democrat John Dyson of Millbrook, considered his party's leading candidate against Schoentag in next fall's election, has said he is conducting a poll.

Dyson has not said, however, that he has commissioned the poll by the Quayle company, one of the nation's leading political polling firms.

Schoentag asked Justice Joseph F. Hawkins to stop further questioning of Dutchess County residents by Quayle pollsters and to prohibit publication of the poll results.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market opened lower in active trading today.

Commenting on last week's mild setback, one analyst said the market finally seemed to be entering a consolidation phase after three months of steady advance. However, he added, "a few days, even a few weeks, would be normal and would not change the market's basic upward direction."

Six Persons Injured In Accidents

By WALTER S. CLARK

TOWN OF ESOPUS

Six persons were injured in traffic accidents investigated by State Police over the weekend. One driver was cited for two violations.

Three youths were injured early Saturday when the car in which they were riding went out of control on Route 9W one mile north of the Lloyd Town line and catapulted across a driveway before coming to a stop.

Solomon Edwards, 18, of 37 Van Buren Street, operator of the vehicle was taken to Vassar Hospital suffering internal and head injuries. He was cited by Trooper P. A. Koenig of Highland for driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent and crossing a dividing line.

The summonses are returnable before Town Justice John O. Beaver.

Also injured were Michael Hewitt, 20, East Kingston, who suffered a cerebral concussion and Stephen Hewitt, 18, same address, who received lacerations of the right knee. They were taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment.

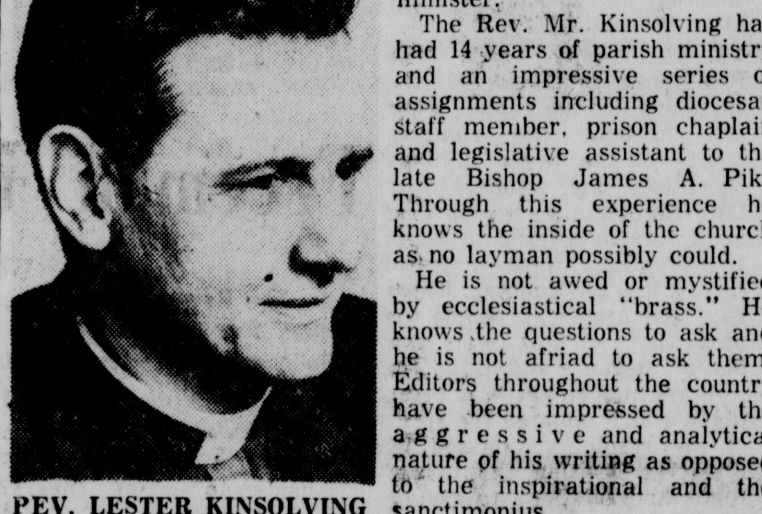

The vehicle was northbound when Edwards failed to negotiate a curve. The car went off the south shoulder of the highway, and as the driver attempted to right the course of the vehicle he overcorrected and catapulted across a driveway.

While driving his car along Route 23 west of Route 23A at Prattsville at 12:55 a. m. today, Peter J. Czesewski, 18, of Spring Valley, lost control and the vehicle veered off the highway, struck a snowbank and slammed into trees.

The youth and two passengers were taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital for treatment. Czesewski sustained lacerations of the lips and a broken tooth. Others injured were Lloyd Zimet, 17, who suffered a broken nose and lacerations, and Mark Small, 20, who was treated for injuries of the left knee and head. Zimet and Small also reside in Spring Valley.

Trooper R. C. Rose of Leeds reported the car was eastbound when the accident occurred.

Henze to Be Chest Speaker

KINGSTON

A well-known local banker, civic leader and Chamber of Commerce president, Clifford A. Henze, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of Ulster County Community Chest Inc., Thursday, 8 p.m. at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

The announcement by Chest President Robert T. Brown notes that Henze is president of Kingston Savings Bank and also heads Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. His topic will be United We Stand, Divided We Fall.

Brown said Henze will stress the ever increasing need for a renewed spirit of purpose and unity on the part of the citizens of Ulster County, and a unified resolve to work together towards the building of a better community in which to live and work.

Henze's broad background in the area of civic affairs makes him uniquely well qualified to present an in-depth discussion on the many and varied problems which currently face our county, and those problems which we all must face in the years to come, Brown said. Besides being the current president of the Ulster Financial Council, Henze has a long history of active association with many of the organizations which have helped to shape the destiny of Ulster County. Henze is a member and a past chairman of the Planning Committee of the Ulster County Community Chest, a member of the board of directors and a past president of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, and a former board member of the YMCA.

In addition, he has also served as the first president of the Ulster County Community Action Committee, was the president of the county's Citizen Survey Committee, and is still an active member of the Kingston Kiwanis, serving on that organization's board of directors, as well as being a member of the Kingston Area Financial Council.

The bank president, along with his many area civic duties, also lends his services to organizations at both the state and the national level. Currently Henze is serving as a member of the Committee on New Services and the Public Information Committees for the Savings Banks Association of New York State, and is a member of the Committees on Government Securities and the Public Department Committee of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks.

Commenting on Henze's familiarity with both state and national affairs, Brown said the principal speaker will be able to draw from his personal knowledge of various levels of human experience, and relate them to problems at the local level.

Brown reminded all area residents that any current contributor to the Ulster County Community Chest is a voting member of the Chest, and that all members are urged to attend their organization's annual meeting. Brown added in addition to the address by Henze there will be two important items of business to vote upon, the election of new Chest officers and board members, and the proposal to change the President Nixon's proposal of "power to the people," to bolster his revenue sharing with the states would bring into being ten regional sub-governments, where major federal departments and agencies would make the decisions on federal-state matters which are now decided in Washington. This is the information leaked to the public, to indicate that there would be some measure of federal control over federal largesse.

Regional Sub-Governments

The President's commission on federal reorganization suggested that, while the allocations of money to the states would be made in Washington, these regional offices would relieve the central government of direct relations with the states. All federal departments and agencies would operate in the same regional boundaries, perhaps in one federal building or complex in the regional centers.

Regional decision making would give the directors considerable muscle, to enable them to carry out their responsibilities.

Of course, the first thing that occurs to any government watcher is the question, is this a new bureaucracy that would be foisted on the country? Would these regional offices reduce the strain on the central government to the point where the departments and agencies would be able to reduce personnel to compensate for the regional newcomers, would they be transferred, or would they be a whole new layer on top of the huge federal establishment?

Before we can evaluate its value, we must get answers to such questions. We don't want to build new political machines to disburse this largesse. The idea was to return power to the people not impose more supervisors over them.

Where Winter Cold Starts

There is an explanation for the abnormal cold we have experienced this winter and for the past decade of winters. The discoverer and his associates believe that a huge "lake" of warm water in the northern Pacific has so distorted the westerly wind patterns that the East has been shivering the last 11 winters and perhaps a little more this year than most of its predecessors.

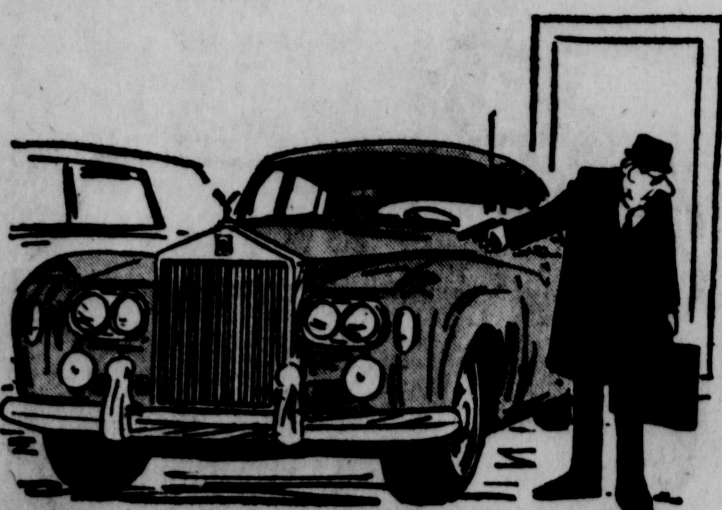

How would a warm water ocean create so much cold, one wonders. Jerome Namias, chief of the extended forecast division of the National Weather Service, explains. His opinion is a result of four winters' work at the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography at San Diego. It is based on data from buoys anchored in the Pacific and eight million observations from ocean vessels, all analyzed by computer.

The warm area extends over a third of the Pacific Ocean, from the Bering Sea and the Aleutians to just north of Hawaii, and from Japan to the U.S. West Coast. Over the past decade, winter temperatures over this vast area measured from one to three degrees above normal, a difference big enough to intensify the North Pacific's usual winter storms. These storms deform the jet stream, the high altitude river of air that constantly flowed from west to east around the whole Northern Hemisphere. It now flows northward over the Canadian Arctic, then more southward over the eastern United States, bringing many more frigid air masses over the eastern U.S.

As a result, while eastern U.S. shivered, the jet stream distortion modified the winters slightly over the western plateau, letting more tropical air flow in.

THINGS WE DIDN'T KNOW—Astronaut Michael P. Collins, just returned from a 14-nation tour, reports that India, with all its terrible problems of poverty, spends a larger percentage of its Gross National Product on space than we do. It was a point for more space spending here, especially as all the money is spent in the United States, not in outer space.

David Lawrence Says Nixon Explains Successful Laos Military Expedition

WASHINGTON — For several days recently the press carried dispatches from Saigon and Washington deploring the embargo that was placed upon news about the movements of American forces in South Vietnam who were assisting the South Vietnamese in their expedition into Laos to cut the Ho Chi Minh Trail. The newsmen were complaining either that they weren't being told about the plan or that they were not permitted to publish what they did know. Some members of Congress thought there was unnecessary secrecy and, generally speaking, the Administration was subjected to a lot of criticism. But on Thursday of this week, President Nixon held a press conference at which he told newsmen the whole story of just what did happen, and the transcript took more than six columns of space in the few newspapers which printed it in full.

The real question is: Did the Administration restrict news reporting, or was publication merely withheld at a time when it was necessary not to let the enemy know the details of a military operation that was not fully under way? The President's explanation of what occurred shows that the expedition was a success and that a very important route used by North Vietnam to supply its forces in South Vietnam was effectively disrupted. The President indicated clearly that Americans are helping the South Vietnamese army but that he is continuing with his plans to withdraw our own troops, with no change in the schedule in that respect. He was asked why the incursion into Laos, which had been under consideration by military men in Saigon for some years, had just been decided on. He answered: "It was not undertaken during the previous Administration, as I understand, and I can speak for this Administration now for a reason that the South Vietnamese and for that matter, the United States, had enough on our plate in South Vietnam. Laos would not have been possible had it not been for Cambodia, Cambodia, cutting off one vital supply line and thereby practically bringing enemy activity in the southern half of South Vietnam to an end, released the South Vietnamese forces — who, by this time, had not only gained confidence in Cambodia, but also had additional strength — released them for undertaking what they could not have undertaken even eight months ago, an incursion on their own into Laos with only U.S. air support.

"The decision to do it now, or I think perhaps the decision not to do it before, is that, one, neither the United States nor the South Vietnamese felt that they apparently had the capability to do it; second, the decision to do it now was based on the fact that the South Vietnamese, because of the confidence, the training they gained as a result of their actions in Cambodia, the South Vietnamese felt that they were able to undertake it. Our commanders agreed and, therefore, it was undertaken."

The President went on to say that the objective is not to occupy any part of Laos. He emphasized that the South Vietnamese are not there to stay and are there only "to disrupt the enemy's lines of communication, their supply lines, their infiltration routes — and then to get out." Once this is accomplished, he added, "they will get out."

American generals are reporting that the South Vietnamese are conducting themselves well and are fighting "in a superior way." These, Mr. Nixon stated, are the very words that General Abrams used.

When one reads the President's analysis of the operation in Laos and takes into account the complex nature of the whole military operation, one wonders why the fragmentary accounts of what was happening in South Vietnam were spread throughout the country. These gave the American people the idea that a new war was being begun and that a military movement was being made which violated the spirit of the resolutions passed by Congress limiting the use of funds in Indo-China to certain kinds of operations.

It is difficult for a Defense Department to explain to everybody in Congress, particularly the politicians who want to make votes and gain publicity, just what is intended by a military expedition such as that which was launched in Laos. But when the need for secrecy is over and the facts are set forth officially by the President of the United States in a comprehensive way, the question arises as to whether the people who got the distorted impression in the first instance will ever obtain the whole story and be able to gain a true perspective.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Incomprehensible Economics Economics is an incomprehensible subject. No one understands it. If it were an exact science, like engineering, this country would be eternally prosperous. Millions of young people major in economics and the professors who teach it are two steps from the porch.

The dictionary says that economics is "The science treating of the production, distribution and consumption of goods and services, or the material welfare of mankind." Wrong on two counts. Economics is far from being a science. Secondly, the word "or" is out of place; economics is the material welfare of mankind.

For those of us who wouldn't know Keynes from Kissing, economics consists of earning a buck and trying to keep part of it. Six per cent of America's work force is unemployed; at the same time, the buck becomes cheaper by 6 per cent each year. My friends, we have reached the point of no return.

The secretary of labor artfully announced that January's unemployment figures dropped two-tenths of 1 per cent, from 6.2 to 6.1. (Momentary applause.) A reporter rose to ask how that could be, since the same secretary of labor had announced a month earlier that unemployment in December was 6 per cent. The secretary smiled. Seems, he said, that his figures for December had been wrong. Unemployment was 6.2 per cent; now it was 6.1.

I hope you are beginning to understand the subject, because I may ask questions. To properly pursue the study of the dollar, one must go back to Franklin D. Roosevelt, a wealthy man who introduced the notion of "taxing according to the ability to pay." This was interpreted as a "soak the rich" policy — which it was.

But it broke down a lot of million-dollar mansions into eight-room ranch houses, and ended the era of big yachts, four Pierce Arrows in the garage, and eleven maids, not counting gardener and butler. It ushered in the era of the union craftsman who, for the first time, bought himself a ranch house and moved next door to the millionaire.

Prior to that time, Patrolman Alonzo Tier, my grandfather, earned $2 a day and bought a house on Randolph Street and had money in the bank. Father Leroy McWilliams told me that his father had a family, earned $18 a week, and owned his own home in Paterson, New Jersey. This gives us the illusion that the dollar is never a dollar, and never has been. It's a White House toy.

If you buy one share of stock, the government will take a minimum of 25 per cent of your profit, and another 25 from the next buyer. There goes half. What the hell kind of economics is that? The government also wants at least a third of my salary; the city will take an additional 4 per cent in sales tax, not counting taxes on gasoline, tobacco, liquor, travel, etc., ad nauseum.

Thus, according to the Bishop School of Incomprehensible Economics, the more you earn the less you have. The banks and the insurance companies use our deposits and premiums to swindle us. Try to get money for a solid construction loan. They talk of "prime rate," but that's not you. You pay 10 per cent, plus two points under the table. This is usury, a bad word which should be investigated by the House Committee on Banking.

In addition, the bank or insurance company may request that you keep 25 per cent of the loan on deposit, which means that you get 75 per cent of what you asked, pay 12 per cent interest on 100 per cent of it, and they lend out the 25 per cent like loan sharks. You follow? No? Neither do I, but isn't it horrifying?

If you think I'm difficult to understand, try Time magazine: "For the first time in seven months, unemployment dipped in January — or did it? The rate declined from a revised figure of 6.2 per cent in December to 6 per cent last month. But the actual number of jobless rose by 780,000 to 5,400,000. . . ." It is obvious that they don't know who's on first.

I am possessed of the feeling that nobody understands economics, which is forgivable, but that a lot of people, including the President, misunderstand it, which amounts to licensed larceny.

Those who lost the war, Japan and Germany, are now rich and getting richer. Why? Because they are not permitted to have big armies, navies and air forces, and all those billions go into industrial expansion. They don't need weapons. We send ours to defend them. It would be generous if the losers lent us $300,000,000,000 so that we could pay off the national debt — a thing we owe to ourselves.

Are you confused? Bewildered? Worried? I swear, you're beginning to understand economics . . .

Jack Anderson Says Closing Tax Loopholes Could Bail Out Administration

WASHINGTON — There's much talk in Washington these days about federal spending but little talk about raising taxes.

President Nixon has requested billions-and his figures have been rejected as inadequate, in some instances, by a bullish Congress — for social programs, military increases and other national purposes.

But no one is proposing higher taxes to pay for it all. There is only vague hope that a revitalized economy will increase earnings from which more tax revenue can be extracted.

Certainly, not much more can be squeezed out of the American people without risking a taxpayers' revolt. Yet a source of revenue is available that could raise $50 billion a year without increasing the tax rate a single percentile. This is the amount, according to Treasury experts, that privileged taxpayers now escape paying.

If all the tax loopholes were closed, President Nixon would be able to finance all his programs, balance the budget and have enough surplus left over to reduce income taxes substantially.

The nation's tax laws have been built up piecemeal over the years until they have created an entire industry of lawyers and accountants skilled in the legal labyrinths of avoiding taxes.

These specialists work their magic to reduce the tax liability of the rich. The existing tax loopholes favor those who collect dividends and clip coupons above those who work for a living.

Tax Myth Yet the rich have created the myth that they are taxed a higher percentage of their income than are the poor. While the tax rate may be progressively higher for the rich, they usually manage to escape paying their fair share of the taxes. The amount they avoid, thanks to the tax loopholes, is a whopping $50 billion a year. They often pay a smaller percentage of their income than the poor are soaked.

Indeed, the $50 billion is the size merely of their federal tax break. In many localities, they get additional tax advantages. An estimated 85 per cent of the tax revenue of most local governments, for example, comes from property taxes. In some communities, property taxes have reached staggering highs. To escape them, people are moving out of the cities and letting their rental property run down.

Yet business and industrial property is often under-assessed and therefore under-taxed. It is a national scandal how local tax appraisers often grant low appraisals to the rich and shift an unfair share of the tax burden upon the smaller property owners.

Again and again, bills have been introduced to make the tax laws more equitable. But almost invariably, these efforts have been defeated.

GRAFFITI

Angela's Shotgun — The inside story can now be told how the Spanish made sawed-off shotgun, used in the notorious California court room murder, was traced to Angela Davis, the beautiful black lady revolutionary. The black lady police asked the Treasury's Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division to trace the weapon but provided an incomplete, untraceable description of the gun. In short order, they came back with the correct information. This was flashed to Washington headquarters, which sent a telex to the Spanish manufacturer. He identified the U.S. importer who told the T-men he had sold it to a California pawnshop. The pawnshop records revealed that Miss Davis had purchased the murder weapon. Within four hours after the California authorities first contacted the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division, she had been fingered.

Suez Scoop — This may be denied, but U.S. officials have secretly encouraged Israel to hold up a Middle East settlement that would re-open the Suez Canal. Washington is concerned that the reopening of the Canal would permit the expansion of Soviet influence in the Indian Ocean, Persian Gulf and Arabian Sea.

Feb. 15, 1971 Excessive Mining Editor, The Freeman: Most people are now aware that the Alaskan pipeline currently under consideration may endanger wildlife, result in massive oil spills, and create landslides as a result of hot oil passing through permafrost landscapes.

Another danger is much less known, however. This is the danger of excessive mining which could result from increased access to the wilderness areas surrounding the pipeline. Because of a nineteenth century mining law which has been left on the books, virtually any company or person who wishes may stake a claim on most public land in Alaska and mine the area in any way he wishes: he may cut the trees, drive off the wildlife, and strip mine the entire area with no consideration for the effects on the environment.

To Kingston Savings Bank,
"mortgage"
is not a dirty word.

Half of our motto is, "Provide for the future."

There's meaning behind those words. And money, too. Money we've allocated specifically for mortgage loans. Not for some far away place where we can get higher rates.

For right here in our county. Now. For you.

If you want to build or buy a home this year, talk to a Kingston Savings Bank mortgage officer. After a brief, confidential talk, if we can say yes, that's what we'll say.

Oh, about the other half of our motto: "Preserve the past." We can apply that to Home Improvement Loans.

In other words, we expect our "loan approved" stamp to wear out rather fast this year.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
(© 1971, Emily Post Institute, Inc.)
DEAR MRS. POST: In a recent column, you said "bachelors are always in demand" and that hostesses are so delighted to have them available that a reciprocal invitation is not necessary. As a 34-year-old bachelor with BS, MS and MA degrees, teaching at a small liberal arts college in a city of 18,000, I can assure you this is not the case. I am a nonsmoker and nondrinker and have high moral standards. I'm not interested in meeting the dull divorcees, ex-playmates and Helen Gurley Brown sweethearts. Nice guys aren't wanted. I have several bachelor friends, same moral and educational backgrounds, and all report much the same.

Dear Bob: Sorry, I just don't agree. In every town I've ever lived in, single women (and not all single women are "dull," "Playmates" or "Helen Gurley Brown" types) outnumber eligible men by a considerable number, and bachelors are in demand. I do not believe your morals make any difference at all, but your attitude toward single women may turn off prospective hostesses.

DEAR MRS. POST: Last summer a friend was married, and I sent a gift—carefully wrapped and insured—to the bride's home. I received a note last week from the bride saying that the gift had arrived but it had been badly damaged in transit and that she would return it to me. What should I do now? The gift cannot be returned to the store. Should she have told me about the damage?

Disappointed:
Dear Disappointed: The bride undoubtedly sent the gift back to you because she saw that it was insured, and she was quite right to do so. Take the gift and your insurance receipt to the post office, which is responsible for paying you the amount for which it was insured. Write the bride that you are sending another gift, and do so as soon as you collect on the damaged article.

"So You're Planning to Give a Shower!" This booklet tells you everything you need to know for a bridal shower, a welcome party for a new neighbor, the local minister or anyone else. To get a copy, send 35 cents in coins to cover booklet and mailing expenses to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Daily Freeman.

PANTS, PANTS, PANTS

Slacks, city pants and pant suits have never been a more important part of the fashion scene than they are now, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist. They are being worn from morning to after dark — on city streets, out to dinner, entertaining at home—as well as in their more traditional role as active sportswear.

This season's great new pants have a whole new proportion. At last the not so perfect figure has a friend. Wide legged pants help balance off large hips, thighs and derriere. Add a very long jacket or tunic top and further camouflage those few excess pounds or inches.

A few cautions are in order. When you choose your pants, consider:

1. What you wear with city pants — pay particular attention to your shoes for a total head-to-toe look.

2. How the slacks fit. They must fit perfectly if they are to look well.

What's the right shoe for pants? It depends on the pants:

Jeans or country casual pants — try the look of the moccasin. By all means, avoid a heel more than an inch high.

Evening pants—we like the look of the sandal or little satin boot.

The just right handbag for pants also depends on the look of the pant. A shoulder bag or safari bag can be great go-togethers for either casual or city pants. For evening, carry the smallest of shoulder bags — try one with a rhinestone chain for real sparkle.

Pants are not difficult to construct, but can be hard to fit because of the endless variations in body shapes. For accurate fit, check several points: the waist should be comfortably snug, the hips should be roomy enough for ease in sitting, the thigh area should not bind, and the crotch area must not be too tight or too loose.

Pants, of all your garments, demand the most perfect fit. The time and effort you take to take precise measurements of yourself and comparing them with the pattern before you cut, will go a long way in ensuring perfect fit. Most patterns have detailed directions on how to make a better fitting pants.

A final word of warning—avoid fitting pants too tightly. There are some curves and lumps that should be kept a secret!

Ulster Garden Club Opens New Season

The Ulster Garden Club opened its 1971 season with a meeting at the home of Mrs. N. LeVan Haver. The new president, Mrs. Clarence Hansen of High Falls, presided.

Reports from new chairmen included plans for programs and projects for the coming year. Mrs. Anderson Carl, outgoing chairman of the tree planting committee, reported that since the last fall meeting, 47 locust trees, maples and pin Oaks had been planted on Broadway, Albany Avenue, and Crown and Green Streets.

Two gifts had been received for the Memorial Tree Fund. A list of gifts to this fund is always on view at the Senate House Museum.

Mrs. Appleton Gregory and Mrs. George W. Pratt, who had resigned from regular membership, were elected to affiliate membership.

The meeting was adjourned after a member participation program and quiz on wild flowers led by Mrs. John Bragg, horticulture chairman, and Mrs. Robert Cline, both of Saugerties.

New Group at YWCA, Kingston Helping Clients Lose Weight

So you want to lose weight? There's a new group in town offering to help you. It's called "Diet Watchers."

Agnes M. Kuklin of Poughkeepsie, who is the local group lecturer, says Diet Watchers can do wonders for the individual truly interested in losing weight.

"We have seen cases where a housewife, weighing in at 265, trimmed down to 142. In four months another housewife reduced from 180 to 141 and a teacher, who was a stocky 160, tipped the scales at 116 when she was finished with her course."

Mrs. Kuklin is a product of Diet Watchers. She was 170 pounds and now stands in front of her classes, a slim figure weighing only 135.

Meet at YWCA

Mrs. Kuklin meets with her group every Tuesday night at the YWCA. "What a lot of people don't realize is that you don't have to sign a contract with us. You just pay five dollars registration and two dollars for each weekly session," the lecturer told The Freeman.

Diet Watchers was founded by Ann Gold. She used a diet developed by the late Dr. Norman Jolliffe for the New York City Board of Health to help obese patients lose weight through a nutritious eating plan that eliminates most fats and alters the body chemistry so that it no longer stores fat but turns it into energy.

Mrs. Gold was a successful saleswoman of mutual funds when she first went on Dr. Jolliffe's diet. But after taking off her own excess fat, she retired and used her new knowledge to slim down her overweight husband and her two daughters. It was while working with her own family that she saw how each person in it reacted differently to the same foods and she began to experiment with patterns in eating to find the timing and selections that helped each individual to lose weight most rapidly, according to his own chemistry.

A physician persuaded Mrs.

Gold to start a Diet Watchers group in Rockland County, N. Y., where she lived in 1963. The groups grew and today Diet Watchers will be found in the immediate area of Kingston, Hyde Park, Red Hook, Cold Springs, New Paltz, Highland, Newburgh, Cornwall and Poughkeepsie.

Kingston's group leader is very enthusiastic about the program. This slim grandmother says, "... I could really get to be a bore on the subject. But you don't count calories with Diet Watchers, you count the combination of foods that enables loss of weight." Mrs. Kuklin feels it is important for mothers and fathers to be successful in this type of program for they will then pass on their new found knowledge to their children. Mrs. Kuklin feels "... our children are the fattest in the world."

Another group leader sums it all up like this: "Many of the Diet Watchers have to lose to live; all of them have to lose in order to become alive."

Paltz AAUW Collecting Paper To Help Fight Pollution

The New Paltz branch of the American Association of University Women is fighting pollution by collecting paper for recycling. The campaign is a major result of an intensive two-year study in the field of ecology undertaken by members with Doris DeWitt of Gardiner as chairman. She was assisted by Carol Tuttle of Modena; Betty Hurd and Jane Anne Russell of Clintondale; and Martha Afzal of New Paltz.

The AAUW found that each year the public throws away about 270 million tons of "trash" paper. To make this paper 3.4 billion cubic feet of trees are cut down every year.

Paper recycling alone would reduce the volume of trash by 80 per cent thus keeping dumps and landfill areas from filling up so quickly. Paper recycling would also help save 25 per cent of the trees cut each year and reduce air pollution because local dumps would not have to burn.

Seeking a solution to the problem, the New Paltz AAUW is going to sponsor a paper drive the first weekend in March. They will have a truck at the parking lot in front of the Beekman House Furniture Store, Route 299, and Manheim Boulevard, in New Paltz, on Friday, March 5 from 6-9 p.m. and on Saturday, March 6 and Sunday, March 7 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Organizations and individuals desiring to volunteer their services should contact Martha Afzal in New Paltz.

AAUW asks that papers should be tied. Newspapers should be separated from other types of paper—magazines, typing paper, circulars—and all should be tied.

The donated paper will be taken to Poughkeepsie where it will be baled and shipped to a paper mill. There it will ground, made into pulp and used to make new paper.

The support of the public is needed to make this project a successful one.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE

Dear Folks:

I was visiting a friend recently and asked her to describe for you all the handiest hint ever, which she has been using for ages.

"I keep matching bath towels on top of my washer and dryer in the kitchen for extra counter space. It's fantastic, as who doesn't need extra places to work on, set bowls, etc.—especially in the compact kitchens of today."

"I have avocado green appliances and happened to find some plain avocado green towels, so they are hardly noticeable."

"Sure saves my beautiful new appliances from getting scratched. Moreover, there is no ironing involved, as the towels can be washed and fluff dried. And for emergency spills or quick clean-ups, they're terrific!"

Billie Beavers

How about that, gals? She has counter space galore... and at no extra cost!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Another use for the plastic insert in candy boxes that separate each piece:

I make pecan pralines for mailing to Vietnam. I just pour the candy into each little cup, and it always arrives intact.

Mattie O.

Dear Heloise:

My family has had some pretty bad electric shocks in our bathroom by putting one hand on the water hydrant, or in some water, and touching the metal pull-chain on the light above the mirror with the other hand at the same time.

My husband, bless his heart, stopped that this evening. He bought some plastic tubing, ran the chain through that, added a plastic object at the end to catch hold of, and presto... no metal chain exposure!

Zelda

LETTER OF THOUGHT

Dear Heloise:

Keep up your marvelous service, for you give: Enlightenment to the uninformed; Inspiration to the indifferent; Sustenance to the weary; Awareness to the lack-a-daisical; Stimulation to the bored; Simplification to the complicated; Spontaneity to the automatic; Assistance to the needy, and; Pride to all homemakers!

The Conservative Alternative

KINGSTON party's candidate for comptroller last fall, outline the "Conservative alternative." Spinnelli was introduced by Harry S. Hoffman, county chairman, who waged an unsuccessful campaign for congressman last November. Joining Hoffman and Spinnelli at the head table were William Jackson, the party's first vice-chairman, Louis Bolter, second vice-chairman, H. County Legislature.

Both Bell and Dye spoke briefly on fiscal matters on the state and county level. Spinnelli, who ran for comptroller against Arthur Levitt, the Democrat and Edward V. Regan, the Republican, attacked the present state of fiscal conditions as the product of neglect "by the people who have been in power for a quarter of a century." "There is a conservative alternative," Spinnelli declared. "It will be hard medicine but it will be designed to try and rectify years and years of misgovernment."

Move to Continue Appalachian Aid

KINGSTON restoration, public facilities, by saying: "I believe the facts show fully and clearly why the housing and environmental development, Appalachian programs should be continued. It is a concept that can and should be used as a model of how similar revenue sharing economic development programs can be administered nationally so that other similar programs in other regions of the country might also be developed."

Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr. introduced legislation today that would continue the Appalachian highway program for five years and extend other elements of the 13-state regional development program for four years.

In introducing the legislation, Fish said that the future of the Appalachian Regional Development Program is "at stake because of an administration proposal to include funds from the program in its new revenue sharing plan. The Appalachian Act," he continued, "is one of the most innovative programs in the history of American government."

Fish cited a list of statistical accomplishments representing achievements of the program throughout its six years of existence. He also noted that the program "has enabled the people of the region to participate more fully in the growth of the American economy. It is, in itself, a form of revenue sharing."

The bill introduced today authorizes an additional $925 million for the 2671 mile Appalachian highway program and $571 million for activities in other fields including health, education, mine area

Lefkowitz Supports Bell on Festivals

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Legislation placing new restrictions on promoters of rock music festivals, won the support of Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz today.

Lefkowitz issued a statement urging approval of a bill giving his office jurisdiction over those who sell tickets for "mass gatherings." The measure would require that promoters be licensed before selling any tickets in the state—whether the festival was being held in New York or in another state.

Under provisions of the bill, purchasers of tickets would be

Ulster Cagers Down Rockland Quintet

SUFFERN Chief Ulster floorman was guard Gary McDonald, who bounced back from a recent scoring slump to go seven-for-seven from the field enroute to a game high total of 23 points. McDonald was complemented by captain Glenn Berry. Region XV's fifth highest point-getter notched 15 markers in the first half and added six more in the second twenty minutes before fouling out. Berry had been averaging 20.7 points per game going into the contest.

Five teams were selected Sunday to the Region XV basketball tournament with three more due to be picked to complete the field.

The remaining three squads will come from a list that includes Ulster, Kingsborough, Staten Island, Nassau, and Dutchess Community Colleges and Concordia and Mitchell Junior Colleges.

Ulster Coach Mike Perry told the Daily Freeman that his team was still in the running on the basis of wins it scored over Fashion and Suffolk, already in the event, and Nassau, one of the other contenders.

Detroit on Slide

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS It's Blue Monday for the Detroit Pistons ... after a black weekend.

The Pistons are alive today, but not quite well, after blowing three games in less than 48 hours, losing a player to injury and skidding to fourth place in the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division.

Detroit started out the weekend Friday in second place and with forward Terry Dischinger in tact. But the Pistons lost three games, including Sunday's 125-112 walloping by Chicago in which Dischinger suffered a torn kneecap.

Dischinger will have to undergo surgery, tentatively scheduled for Tuesday, and appears to be out for the rest of the season.

The Pistons, however, managed to find a bright spot in an otherwise crushing weekend.

Dave Bing scored 34 points Sunday, a club record.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Baltimore 121, Atlanta 119; Portland 123, Cleveland 105; Milwaukee 125, Phoenix 97; Seattle 135, Philadelphia 128 and Los Angeles 124, Boston 116.

In the American Basketball Association, Kentucky topped New York 125-121; Virginia beat Carolina 124-119; Utah stopped Denver 120-107 and Indiana walloped the Floridians 121-107.

Penn Never Runs Dry

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dick Harter's Penn never runs dry, scribbling success all over college basketball courts.

"We're going for an undefeated season," says Harter, whose bench-deep Quakers are nearly there with a 22-0 record after dusting off Dartmouth 102-75 Saturday night.

To tell the truth, Harter never thought his team would be among the undefeated at this time of the year.

"I thought, before the season started, that we'd be playing as well as we are now—but never 22-0," says Harter.

"In fact, right now we're at the top of our game."

That's bad news for Penn's Ivy League opponents who are trying to catch the Quakers in their bid for a second straight title and berth in the NCAA Tournament.

Weekend victories over Harvard and Dartmouth gave Penn, 10-0, a solid lead over Columbia, 7-2.

"Everyone is gunning for us and we know they're going to be at their best," says Harter.

"The fact that we keep winning is a tremendous tribute to the team and its attitude."

Penn's victory Saturday night was its 55th in 59 games and highlighted a weekend of successes by Top Ten teams.

Top-ranked UCLA, led by Sidney Wicks' 28 points, toppled Oregon 74-67; No. 2 Marquette won its 33rd straight by belting Air Force 77-62 and third-rated Southern California trampled Oregon State 110-75.

Fifth-rated Kansas won its 14th straight with an 85-66 decision over Missouri, No. 6 Jacksonville whistled by Valdosta State 124-90; John Roche scored 32 points to pace No. 7 South Carolina to a 72-66 conquest of eighth-ranked North Carolina; ninth-rated Western Kentucky slammed Morehead State 99-70 and 10th-ranked Duquesne outscored St. Peters 104-98.

In the second Ten, No. 12 Kentucky hammered Louisiana State 110-72; 13th-rated Tennessee clipped Alabama 89-87; No. 14 Notre Dame turned back West Virginia 107-98; No. 16 Michigan mauled Minnesota 108-99; 16th-ranked Fordham nipped Rutgers 87-84; 19th-ranked Louisville edged Wichita State 98-97 in overtime and No. 20 Ohio State bombed North-western 84-72.

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. GIANT THREE — Italy's Gustavo Thoeni (C) bidding to become the youngest men's World Cup winner ever, won first place in the Tall Timber Classic's giant slalom Sunday after earlier scoring a major upset for third place in the downhill at Sugarloaf Mountain. With the 19-year-old Thoeni are Edmund Bruggmann of Switzerland (L) who placed 2nd and France's Henri Duvillard (R) who came in 3rd. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Thoeni Captures Title

KINGFIELD, Maine (AP) — Gustavo Thoeni's skis are causing him some trouble. Not the ones he skis on, but the ones he loans out.

Thoeni, the World Cup leader from Italy, loaned a pair of his skis Sunday to Edmund Bruggmann of Switzerland before the running of the two heats of the men's giant slalom at Sugarloaf Mountain.

Bruggmann's skis were destroyed in a fire Saturday.

Thoeni almost proved to be generous to a fault.

Bruggmann, a five-time Swiss champion in the giant slalom, gave Thoeni's skis the second best ride of the day. Thoeni gave another pair the best.

Thoeni, 22, who began international competition last year, won the first head on Sugarloaf's difficult Narrow Gauge Trail. Bruggmann finished right behind.

The two then swapped finishing order in the second heat, but Bruggmann was unable to overcome the slim lead Thoeni had established.

The winner's combined time was 2:57.59. Bruggmann's was 2:57.81.

The women have four giant slalom and one slalom race left.

Skate Marks Fall

INZELL, Germany (UPI) — Records fell by the wayside and titles changed hands, at the World Sprint Speed Skating championships which ended Sunday on Inzell's speedy artificial ice-rink.

The great discovery in the two-day show was Anne Henning, a 15-year-old blonde from Northbrook, Ill., who set world records on successive days over the 500-meter distance.

Miss Henning, a newcomer to big-time competition, zipped around the 400-meter oval-shaped track Saturday in 42.91 seconds to shatter the 15-minute old previous standard of 43.15 posted by East Germany's Ruth Schleiermacher.

On Sunday, Miss Henning, the first woman to crack the 43-second barrier over the 500 meters, whittled the record down to 42.75 seconds.

Both Miss Henning, the youngest championship competitor, and her coach, Ed Norman, were all smiles on the record-blitzing performance.

Norman said he had "great hopes for Sapporo with Anne."

Sapporo is the site of the 1972 Olympic Winter Games.

"She is the most dynamic girl I have ever seen on skates," said Erhard Keller, West Germany's Olympic and new world champion.

Winning the women's title was Miss Schleiermacher, 21, with an aggregate world record total of 175.73 points to the title defender, among others, to secure the victory with an aggregate 158.42 points.

Schenk zipped to a 1,000-meter world record of 1:18.8 minutes Saturday, but had to be content with third place in the final classification.

The weekend before at Goeteborg, Sweden, the 26-year-old Schenk defended his world title in the "great four match" championship and also set two world standards.

Hull Sets Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS "It's the steal of the year," for a career total of 549.

Chicago's Bobby Hull has become the National Hockey League's all-time trickster and Toronto's Maple Leafs are aiming to become this year's arch thieves.

Hull banged in three goals Sunday night in the Black Hawks' 7-5 victory over Los Angeles for the 27th hat trick of his career—one more than the old record held by Maurice Richard.

Toronto, meanwhile, whipped Minnesota 4-1 for its third straight victory behind the brilliant goaltending of Bernie Parent.

In Sunday's other NHL action, New York topped Detroit 4-1 and St. Louis defeated Buffalo 3-1.

Hull, who moved past Richard last week into the No. 2 spot in the all-time NHL scoring parade, eclipsed another of the Rocket's marks with his 37th, 38th and 39th goals of the season.

Toronto Coach John McLellan said of the recent trade that brought Parent to the Maple Leafs from Philadelphia to alternate with veteran goalie Jacques Plante. "We've got the best goaltending in the league now."

Stan Mikita scored twice for the Hawks, who maintained their 19-point bulge over second place St. Louis in the West Division.

Parent stopped 25 Minnesota shots, including breakaways by Danny Grant and Bobby Rousseau as the Leafs crept within three points of idle Montreal and third place in the East. They have won 17 of their last 21 games.

Rick Ley, Guy Trotter, Dave Keon and Jim McKenny scored for Toronto. Danny O'Shea ruined Parent's shutout bid with a third period Minnesota goal.

Bruce MacGregor, obtained by New York in a trade with Detroit, did the heavy work for the Rangers against his old mates, setting up ex-Red Wing Pete Steckowski's second period goal and third period markers by Jim Neilson and Ted Irvine.

Frank St. Marseille scored twice for St. Louis and Phil Goyette fired his 200th career goal for Buffalo.

New Paltz 5 Downs Ellies

NEW PALTZ Jay Ackert only managed four points for the winners but pulled markers, a personal high this season, as the New Paltz High School basketball team defeated Ellenville, 70-61. The non-league game was played Saturday night. New Paltz is now 12-5 overall.

Blue Devils Top Ganders

ELLENVILLE Ellenville High School, one of the top contenders for next week's district wrestling tournament championship, finished the UCAL dual meet season in second place here Friday by pouncing on Rondout Valley, 30-14.

The Ellies swept all but four of the weight classes from Rondout, whose record dropped to 4-6 in the league and 5-9 overall.

Gander triumphs were recorded by Mark Sullivan in the 115 lb. division, 122 lb. Bill Murat, 129 lb. Ed Barry, and 135 lb. Bob Thope.

Rondout was wrestling without the services of undefeated star Tom Coddington, who was ill. But Gander Coach Larry Skala said he expected Coddington to be ready for the district meet at Onteora Saturday.

The summaries:

Coleman Frosh To Face Miller

Bob Dietz scored 15 points to lead Coleman's freshman basketball team to its 11th win of the season, 44-20, over Rondout Valley Saturday.

Coach Bob Thabet's quintet has dropped just two contests with its final game set for today against undefeated Miller Junior High.

It comes in three economy sizes.

These are just some of the sizes Volkswagens come in. Regular, large and giant economy size.

Regular, you know. It's the familiar beetle.

Large is our Squareback sedan. It holds more than the largest trunk of the largest sedan.

Giant economy size is our big bus-like box. It holds nearly twice as much as the average station wagon.

And all three VWs do everything you expect a Volkswagen to do.

They have air-cooled engines (in the rear, of course). So there's no water to boil over or freeze up. And no need for antifreeze.

And they're easy on gasoline. The bug and the Squareback average about 26 miles on a gallon. The box about 23.

So you see, no matter what size we make Volkswagens, they're all economical.

Why not come in and size one up?

Jenkins Inks Pact

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—despite the efforts of two attorneys who joined him in final negotiations at the Cubs' Scottsdale, Ariz., spring training base. The Minnesota Twins, meanwhile, concerned themselves with a different form of exclusion. Several black members of the team complained that an Orlando, Fla., golf club discriminated against them during the weekend.

Jenkins signed his 1971 contract Sunday for less than the six-figure salary he was seeking.

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI)—Although the Chicago White Sox don't open spring training officially until Monday, a group of 21 early birds, 16 off the regular roster, worked out Sunday under the direction of their new manager, Chuck Tanner.

The entire squad of 52, including 13 unrostered players, are scheduled to report Monday. However, there may be seven absentees.

Outfielder Pat Kelly has permission to check in a few days late, but the rest are unsigned. Vice President Stu Holcomb lists Mike Andrews, Wilbur Wood and Tommy McCraw as possible stubborn holdouts. The others unsigned are Rick Reichardt, Ron Lolich and Alfredo Mariscal.

er Johnny Bench's demand for a three-year, $500,000 pact. Howsam said Saturday the Reds will give Bench, the league's 23-year-old Most Valuable Player, neither a multi-year contract nor $100,000 for the coming season. Pete Rose and Tony Perez also are among a large number of unsigned Reds.

The world champion Baltimore Orioles said outfielder Frank Robinson has asked for a two-year contract and a pay hike over his estimated 1970 salary of $125,000.

Harry Dalton, the Orioles' personnel director, reported no significant progress in negotiations with 24-game winners Dave McNally and Mike Cuellar or slugger Boog Powell, the American League's MVP.

The New York Yankees prepared to open camp today for pitchers and catchers without 20-game winner Fritz Peterson and catcher Thurman Munson, the AL's 1970 Rookie of the Year. Both are bidding for big pay hikes.

Pittsburgh reported all hands signed after getting contract offers from pitcher Bob Veale and shortstop Gene Alley. Veale, however, was fined $300 for what General Manager Joe Brown called an "irresponsible approach" to negotiations.

Brockport Defeats New Paltz

NEW PALTZ
Even on its good nights New Paltz State loses. Makes you wonder if there's any justice left.

Saturday the Hawks shot a strong 53 per cent from the field but wasted it on one of the better teams on their schedule. Brockport State, and lost to the visiting Eagles, 101-75.

Brockport managed to connect on 49 per cent of its shots, but the winners took 75 to New Paltz's 53. The reason was the upstarters tremendous rebounding edge, 56-23, due to people like 6-8 John Collins and 6-4 Gary Kirkwood, the former Ulster Community College player. New Paltz stayed with Brockport as best could be expected and went into the locker room at halftime down by only 12 points, 50-38. But the Eagles continued to wear out Coach Si Pesavento's Elting Gym forces to the tune of 51-37 in the second half as they rack up their 17th win in 20 games.

The Hawks, seeking to avoid the worst won-lost record in their history, dropped to 3-19. New Paltz has four games remaining and must win at least two to better the dismal 4-21 of last year.

Collins was high man for Brockport with 23 points. Guard Fred Forbes had 19. Four other Eagles were in double figures including Kirkwood, who helped U-Tri-C win the Mid-Hudson Conference title last year. Gary had 11 points.

Earl Thurner led the Hawks, who play at Baruch tonight, with 23 points. Big Steve Dane had his best offensive night of the season with 11.

Following tonight's outing, New Paltz hosts Oneonta on Wednesday, travels to Maritime on Friday, and winds up the slate at home Saturday against Potsdam.

Kaune Stars in DUSO Tourney

LIBERTY
Charles Kaune, star heavyweight wrestler for the grapplers of Kingston High School, ran his record to 14-0 for the season with final and semi-final victories in the DUSO League wrestling championships staged Saturday at Liberty.

Kaune's performance wasn't enough, though, as the powerful Goldbacks of Newburgh Free Academy took first place with host Liberty coming in second. Middletown and Kingston were third and fourth.

Graebner Wins Indoor Title

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Clark Graebner, known as Clark Kent to his tennis colleagues, didn't resemble Super Man when he tumbled while putting away the final shot which won the $50,000 U.S. National Indoor Open.

Graebner, who wears horn-rimmed glasses but hardly has been recognized as having mild manners, performed his miracles earlier, however.

He staved off two match points by Cliff Richey in the fourth set Sunday, won 2-6, 7-6, 7-6, 6-0, and hauled down the $9,000 first prize.

"The reason I lost those two match points," Richey managed to joke during the awards ceremony, "was that it happened so quick the eye didn't see it—but Clark put his cape on in the middle of the point."

Later, away from the crowd and in the presence of newsmen, the 24-year-old Richey wept as he thought of his second successive runner-up finish in the National Indoor Open—both times after mugging two match points.

Dear Abby

Unwanted Baby Issue

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and I am about to have a baby I do not want. The problem is the guy I am pregnant by is married. I didn't know he was married until it was too late. At first everything was fine. He gave me money and bought me just about everything I wanted. He even sent me to a private doctor. Then I found out he was still living with his wife and now I can't stand him. I don't want to see him anymore and I don't want him calling me.

and she wants me to go ahead and have the baby and give it to them, and then go on by myself like nothing happened. Do you think that is a good idea, Abby? I don't want this baby. I can't keep it myself, and I don't want to be involved with him anymore. Please tell me what to do.
UNWED MOTHER PROBLEM
DEAR UNWED: You say you need to learn that this little stunt is dishonest and irritating. I suggest you deal directly with a licensed adoption agency. If you give your child to this man and his wife you will be involved with him forever.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

DISTANT SPARK: (Q) I like this guy in California. We went together for five months. We broke up when I had to move away. We still, though, like each other as much as ever. I don't exactly love him, but I'm very fond of him. I believe I will grow to love him.
My best girl friend out there likes him, too. The other day I got a letter from her asking me to help her. She said she loved him and thinks he is the one for her.
I don't know what to do. I can't tell her how much he and I like each other. We see other friends, but we are serious about each other still.—Eyes Westward in Fort Worth, Texas.

(A) You don't have to tell her how much you like him. But tell her the truth. Write and tell her you like him so much that you don't feel qualified to advise her.
Then tell yourself that you have no control over what happens between them. Because you really don't.
BRACELET: (Q) My best boy friend gave me a bracelet for my birthday. We aren't going steady. Which wrist should I wear it on? I plan to wear it all the time.—Pleased in Nebraska.

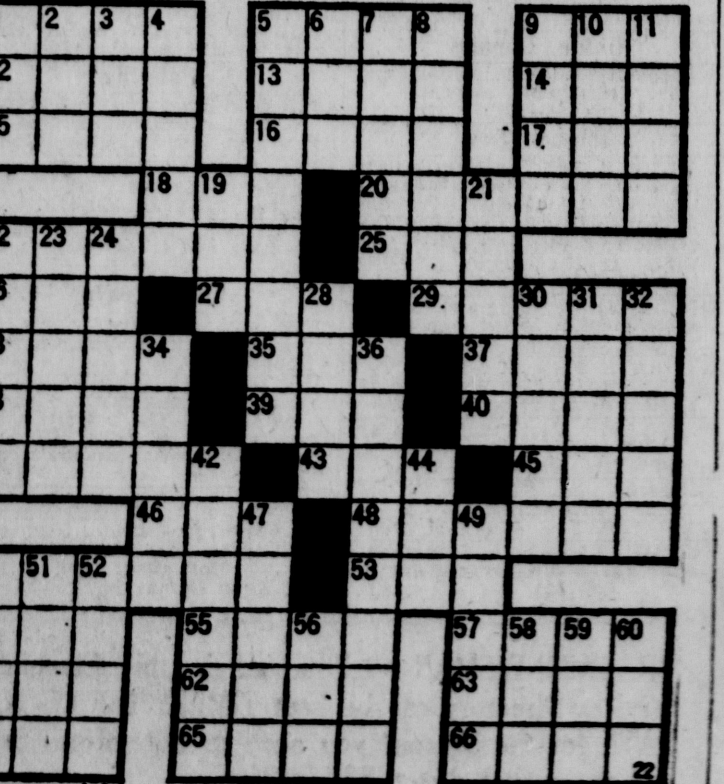

(A) If you wear a watch on your left arm, wear the bracelet on your right one. Otherwise, wear it on your left arm.
Feel free to leave it on your dresser if it does not match the occasion or the outfit you are wearing.
(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

'Bonanza' Makes Some Points

NEW YORK (AP) — "Bonanza," NBC's long-playing family Western, is hardly a crusading series but it came up Sunday night with an effective drama with the theme of bigotry.

The hour belonged to Dean Jagger, not the regular stars of the series. He played a retired general, a Civil War hero returning to Nevada to settle down. Just as his town was to be re-named in the general's honor, he was involved in shooting an Indian he claimed was stealing his horses.

The general was such an upstanding character that even Ben Cartwright was urging him to run for governor. At that point however, it began to be revealed that the man's character was flawed by a psychopathic hatred of Indians—"We should have killed them all," he finally exploded as Ben looked shocked.

Of course, he finally got his come-uppance—an Indian spear in the back—but it was a good action story and made some points rather neatly.

The series, rolling along smoothly for more than a decade, usually has pretty good scripts and there is an interesting mix of characters. It was notable this week, too, that Lorne Greene was almost incidental to the story, Michael Landon played a bit part and Dan Blocker, the third star, was included only in a scene or two.

"Hogan's Heroes" on CBS and "The Bill Cosby Show" on NBC are two half-hour comedy programs which seem likely to disappear at the end of this season. The five-year-old comedy series about hi-jinx in a World War II German prisoner of war camp has pretty well milked the situation of its humorous potential. Bob Crane and his merry crew each week evolve some new way to make bigger booby of their German captors than they—Werner Klemperer as a vain colonel and John Banner as a nervous sergeant—make of themselves.

In its early Sunday evening spot, the series has a large children's audience although its toughest competition, "The Wonderful World of Disney," attracts the same age group.

"The Bill Cosby Show, after only two seasons, will be more of a loss. It has had difficult sledding in a position opposite the second half of ABC's popular "FBI" and CBS's "Ed Sullivan Show." The half hour usual relies on a sly, understated humor and has a sort of spontaneous quality.

This week's Disney show—a rerun—was actually a 1962 movie called "Moon Pilot," and showed its age by its theme—sending an astronaut around the moon—and by sequences showing a movie-maker's idea of the recovery of a space ship. Since then, the public has seen the real thing—and it's better.

Tupamaro Guerrillas Give Up One

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — Terrorist Tupamaro guerrillas freed Brazilian Consul Aloysio Dias Gomide after nearly seven months in captivity Sunday night in exchange for ransom rumored to total more than $250,000.

The guerrillas continued to hold U.S. agricultural expert Claude L. Fly, kidnapped Aug. 7 and British Ambassador Geoffrey Jackson, who was seized last month.

(A letter purporting to be from the terrorists was received in New York by an official of The New York Times Saturday, reiterating demands for $1 million ransom for Fly, 65, of Fort Collins, Colo. The letter contained a note asking it be passed along to Mrs. Fly.)

It was widely reported though not officially confirmed, that Mrs. Dias Gomide had paid $250,000 to $1 million ransom.

The details of Dias Gomide's release were not made public. He arrived at the apartment of the Brazilian minister counselor at 10:15 p.m. in a new car. Dias Gomide said as he entered the building, a doctor who Uruguay and a crowd of more than 2,000 gathered in front of the apartment house, cheering.

when Dias Gomide, 41, and his wife appeared on a seventh-floor balcony and raised their clasped hands.

The Uruguayan government of President Jorge Pacheco Areco has refused to deal for the freedom of the kidnapped men and has conducted a search for them with police and army troops. It suspended individual liberties for 40 days after the kidnapping of the British ambassador Jan. 8.

The Tupamaro guerrillas, named after a Peruvian Indian chief who was one of the last holdouts against the Spaniards, announced prior to Dias Gomide's release that he was being freed because negotiations had been completed and because individual liberties were restored Sunday.

Dias Gomide wore a shabby blue suit and dark glasses when he arrived at the Brazilian counselor's apartment. He changed to a new suit before appearing with his wife on the balcony and spoke to his six children in Rio de Janeiro by telephone.

The Corruption at PX — Senate Probe Digs Deeper

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate inquiry into corruption at overseas U.S. military clubs and exchanges probed deeper today into dealings between ranking American officers and a businessman alleged to have used bribes and kickbacks in his dealings.

The investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., began looking intently last week into the activities of William J. Crum, the representative of several brands of American beer and liquor. Testimony by committee investigators charged Crum paid off in money, women and other favors to corner the GI club market for slot machines and to increase the sale of the beer and liquor brands he handled.

Among those under subpoena to appear publicly before the panel, it was learned, is retired Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole, formerly commander of the Post Exchange system in Europe.

He testified earlier in a closed appearance but the transcript of what he said was never released.

Last July, after Cole's appearances, the Army declared he had failed to maintain the integrity "demanded of a general officer," ordered him reduced to colonel, stripped of the Distinguished Service Medal awarded in Vietnam in 1968 and retired from the service.

The action ended a 30-year military career and cut short Cole's assignment as head of the European Post Exchanges.

At the time, the Army said it would not seek to court martial Cole, and it gave no details of why it believed he had failed to live up to the standards expected of a general.

Cole served notice through his attorneys he would "take all necessary action to assure his vindication," against what he called "an unjustifiable administrative action."

Israel Welcomes Move, But Rejects Demands

By United Press International

Egypt says Israel's refusal to withdraw from captured Egyptian territory is a rejection of recent peace moves despite Israel's declared willingness to negotiate.

The Israeli cabinet said after a four-hour meeting Sunday that it welcomed Egypt's readiness to sign a peace agreement but was not willing to meet Egyptian withdrawal demands. It said Israel was ready to negotiate on all aspects of a peace agreement, however.

The cabinet added: "The government of Israel reiterates its position as confirmed by the Knesset (parliament) that Israel will not withdraw to the armistice lines of June 4, 1967." This referred to Israeli borders before the 1967 Middle East War.

In Cairo, a government spokesman said "The Israeli statement is considered a clear and categorical rejection of the proposals advanced by Ambassador Gunnar Jarring who asked Israel to pledge to withdraw."

Egypt replied earlier to the Jarring proposals that it would sign a peace treaty if Israel agreed to withdraw from the occupied Sinai and Gaza Strip and find a just settlement for the Palestinian refugee problem. Jarring is serving as the United Nations peace negotiator.

After the Israeli cabinet statement Sunday, Egyptian Information Minister Mohamed Fayed said "It has become evident to world public opinion that Israel does not seek peace but wants to impose its expansionist policy on the Arab countries."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said he was "cautiously optimistic" and felt the negotiations have entered a new phase. "We will come to the test

No Blank Check To Europeans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has offered West Europeans a significant role in future space flights, State Department officials say, but not the blank check the Europeans sought in helping launch their own satellites.

U.S. officials commented after Theo Lefevre, president of the 11-nation European Space Conference, as quoted as saying the Americans refused to sell rockets for launching Europe's proposed communications satellites.

Lefevre recently ended a high level meeting in Washington on possible European participation in the space program after the Apollo man-to-the-moon trips.

The Europeans are seeking to expand their fledgling space industry at the same time the United States is looking for a two-way benefit from cutting others in on more of the space action.
